Treatibles Company History

In 2013 Treatibles made a grand entrance, blazing a trail as the pioneer in creating hemp-derived CBD products for pets.

Our story began in 2008 when Julianna Carella, our Founder and CEO, established Auntie Dolores, one of the first five medical cannabis brands in California. She began creating a variety of edible products that offered much needed relief to so many people suffering from a variety of maladies. Eventually, clients began to ask if they could give Auntie Dolores products to their ailing pets. Thus, Treatibles was born.

2013

- Julianna develops Treatibles first product in a commercial kitchen – a gluten-free pumpkin hard chew for dogs infused with CBD rich oil. It was an instant success!
- Julianna and daughter, Dominique (now Treatibles Brand Coordinator) worked day and night in the company's manufacturing facility to keep up with demand

2014

The Farm Bill passes, opening up new opportunities for hemp companies throughout the United States. Treatibles begins independent distribution and develops an e-commerce store on Treatibles.com

2015

- As Treatibles customer base grows, so does the positive feedback from happy pet parents. Many suggest adding a second flavor. So, Julianna creates a gluten-free blueberry hard chew

2016

- Treatibles first two oil dropper bottles make their debut – 90 mg and 250 mg
- 25 mg and 10 mg capsules for pets also debut

2017

- Both the pumpkin and blueberry chews are reformulated to be 100% grain-free. Turkey hard chews join the line-up
- In order to keep up with demand, Treatibles elects to partner with a manufacturer to have chews produced in a Safe Quality Foods (SQF) certified facility using GMPs (Good Manufacturing Practices). This ensures accurate dosing and product uniformity, which cannot be replicated in a commercial kitchen
- The 750 mg oil dropper bottle also joins the ever-growing Treatibles product line
- Treatibles is accepted as an exhibitor at Global Pet Expo, the largest pet industry trade show in the country. It marks the first time a hemp-derived CBD pet company is welcomed to participate
- Treatibles products become available at pet food stores from coast to coast
- The original Tater's Sweet Potato Tots hard chews is created through a partnership with Villalobos Rescue Center (from the television show, Pit Bulls and Parolees)
